The company's aim is to:

- Develop and promote a culture of diversity and equality throughout the organisation.
- Make the best use of the range of talent and experience available within the workforce.
- Develop and promote a culture of fairness, integrity, and dignity.
- Ensure that no job applicant or employee is discriminated against, directly or indirectly, on any lawful grounds.
- Ensure all job applicants will be considered solely on their ability to do the job.
- Ensure interview questions will not be of a discriminatory nature.
- Ensure all promotions will be made on the merit in line with the principals of the policy.
- To support all team members, regardless of race, national or ethnic origin, age, disability, gender, sexual orientation, gender reassignment, religion, or belief.
- Deal with all forms of discrimination consistently, promptly, and effectively.
- Prevent all forms of unlawful disclination.

By including this policy in the Employee Handbook, all employees are made aware that the Company will act in accordance with all statutory requirements and take into account any relevant codes of practice.

This policy will be assessed at regular intervals to ensure that equality of opportunity is afforded to all employees.

Under the Equality Act 2010 people are legally protected against discrimination due to their race. This includes their skin colour, nationality, or ethnic origins.

The Company is committed to building a Company in which racial equality and diversity is supported, understood, valued, and respected, where people of minority ethnic backgrounds have a sense of belonging which is acknowledged and valued by people from all backgrounds.

Treatment Of Applicants

In order to avoid direct or indirect discrimination it is recommended that:

- Reception and personnel team members to be instructed not to treat casual or formal applicants from particular racial groups less favourably than others. These instructions should be confirmed in writing.
- In addition, team members responsible for short listing, interviewing, and selecting candidates should be:
  - Clearly informed of selection criteria and of the need for their consistent application.
  - Given guidance or training on the effects which generalised assumptions and prejudices about race can have on selection decisions.
  - Made aware of the possible misunderstandings that can occur in interviews between persons of diverse cultural background.

Document No: POL008	Issue/Approval Date: JAN 2023	Version No 1.01
Status: Final	Next Review Date: JAN 2024	Page   4

- Wherever possible, short listing and interviewing should not be done by one person alone but should at least be checked at a more senior level.

Training

The Company provides guidance and training to all team members;

- as part of an induction process,
- during regular team meetings,
- by asking team members to complete an online training package.

Training includes:

- The law covering all the protected characteristics and what behaviour is and is not acceptable.
- The risk of ignoring or seeming to approve inappropriate behaviour and personal liability.
- How discrimination can affect the way an employer functions and the impact that generalisations, stereotypes, bias, inappropriate language in day-to-day operations can have on people's chances of obtaining work, promotion, recognition, and respect.
- Monitoring.
- The equality policy, why it has been introduced and how it will be put into practice.

Workforce Monitoring

As a part of our routine practices, we monitor and report on a full range of aspects of our activities including:

- income and expenditure
- health and safety
- sickness absence
- training
- environmental issues and so on.

All team members are advised of the reason you are asking them for monitoring information.

The information provided by the team will:

- not be used to discriminate against them, harass them or victimise them, and
- gather, keep, and use information in a way that means this is true,

Full details of the process in place for gathering, storing, and using information are available for HR on request.

Genuine Occupational Qualification

Selection on racial grounds is allowed in certain jobs where being of a particular racial Group is a genuine occupational qualification for the job. An example is where the holder of a particular job provides persons of a racial group with personal services promoting their welfare, and a person of that group can most effectively provide those services.

Transfer

In order to avoid direct or indirect discrimination it is recommended that:

- Team members responsible for selecting employees for transfer to other jobs should be instructed to apply selection criteria without unlawful discrimination.
- Industry or company agreements of custom and practice on job transfers should be examined and amended if they are found to contain requirements or conditions, which appear to be indirectly discriminatory. For example, if employees of a particular racial group are concentrated in particular sections, the transfer arrangements should be examined to see if they are unjustifiably and unlawfully restrictive and amended if necessary.
- Team members responsible for selecting employees for training whether induction, promotion or skill training should be instructed not to discriminate on racial grounds.
- Selection criteria for training opportunities should be examined to ensure that they are not indirectly discriminatory.

Dismissal (Including Redundancy) And Other Detriment

It is unlawful to discriminate on racial grounds in dismissal, or other detriment to any employee.

It is therefore recommended that:

- Team members responsible for selecting employees for dismissal, including redundancy, should be instructed not to discriminate on racial grounds.
- Selection criteria for redundancies should be examined to ensure that they are not indirectly discriminatory.

Performance Appraisals

It is unlawful to discriminate on racial grounds in appraisals of employee performance.

It is recommended that:

- Team members responsible for performance appraisals should be instructed not to discriminate on racial grounds.
- Assessment criteria should be examined to ensure that they are not unlawfully discriminatory.

Recruitment

All applicants should complete application forms for employment in order that personnel can ascertain the percentage of ethnic minority applicants.

All senior managers responsible for recruitment should ensure that compliance with the above is conducted in order that the company can operate and comply with its equal opportunities policy.

Ashfield Group are committed to safeguarding and investing in promoting the welfare of the vulnerable individuals.
